Objectives and investment policy

Objective: To provide a higher return than cash over the medium term.

Portfolio Securities: Under normal conditions, Macquarie Global Income Opportunities Fund (the "Sub-Fund") seeks exposure mainly to a diverse range of global credit-based securities. These securities can be issued by corporate bodies, governments or other governmental entities. The Sub-Fund may also have exposure to cash, global high yield credit securities including emerging market debt, hybrid securities and a range of other credit opportunities. The Sub-Fund may invest up to 10% of its net assets in Chinese bonds through the China Bond Connect. The Sub-Fund may use financial instruments to manage its exposure to various investment risks (hedging) and to seek investment gains.

Investment Process: The Investment Manager is actively managing the Sub-Fund and has all discretion with respect to the composition of the portfolio. The Investment Manager uses a combination of sector rotation, duration and security selection within the portfolio.

Designed for: This Sub-Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within 5 to 7 years.

Risk and reward profile

The risk indicator is based upon historical data and may not be a reliable indication for the future risk profile of the Sub-Fund. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment. The Sub-Fund's risk level of 3 results from the following factors:

- The Sub-Fund is based on an investment philosophy focusing primarily on liquidity and capital preservation.
- The Sub-Fund invests across the full spectrum of global fixed income with an opportunistic approach, utilising a focus on high quality instruments which are traditionally very liquid.
- The Sub-Fund may have exposure to high yield credit securities where there is perceived relative value, including senior bank loans that qualify as money market instruments, that typically carry a higher risk than investment grade securities.

- The Sub-Fund may also have exposure to emerging market debt securities where there is perceived relative value, that typically carry a higher risk than debt securities issued in developed markets.

The value of an investment in the Sub-Fund can go up and down. When you sell your shares, they may be worth less than you paid for them. If your currency as an investor is different from the reference currency of the Sub-Fund, changes in currency exchange rates could reduce any investment gains or increase any investment losses.

The rating does not reflect the possible effects of unusual market conditions or large unpredictable events, which could amplify everyday risks and could trigger other risks. The Sub-Fund is subject to the following risks which may not be adequately captured by the indicator:

- Securities that combine the elements of debt and equity and the risks associated with both, including greater volatility than for straight bond investments with an increased risk of capital loss.
- Certain derivatives could increase the Sub-Fund's volatility or expose the Sub-Fund to losses greater than the cost of the derivatives.
- The value of the Sub-Fund's investments may be sensitive to changes in market perceptions of credit quality, both of individual issuers and of the credit markets in general.

For full details of the Sub-Fund's risks, please refer to the Prospectus available as mentioned in section "Risk Considerations".
