Risk and reward profile

The risk indicator is based upon historical data and may not be a reliable indication for the future risk profile of the Sub-Fund. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment. The Sub-Fund's risk level of 4 results from the following factors:

- The Sub-Fund primarily invests in emerging markets bonds and their derivatives, including unrated bonds, high yield bonds, and distressed and/or defaulted bonds, and contingent convertible bonds.

The value of an investment in the Sub-Fund can go up and down. When you sell your shares, they may be worth less than you paid for them. If your currency as an investor is different from the reference currency of the Sub-Fund, changes in currency exchange rates could reduce any investment gains or increase any investment losses.

The rating does not reflect the possible effects of unusual market conditions or large unpredictable events, which could amplify everyday risks and could trigger other risks. The Sub-Fund is subject to the following risks which may not be adequately captured by the indicator:

- Potential adverse political, economic or social developments affecting the return on an investment in a country may reduce the value of the Sub-Fund's assets.
- The value of the Sub-Fund's investments may be negatively affected by changes in currency exchange rates. Adverse changes in exchange rates may reduce or eliminate any gains produced by investments that are denominated in foreign currencies and may increase any losses.
- The value of the Sub-Fund's investments may be sensitive to changes in market perceptions of credit quality, both of individual issuers and of the credit markets in general.
- Certain derivatives could increase the Sub-Fund's volatility or expose the Sub-Fund to losses greater than the cost of the derivatives.
- Certain securities could become hard to value, or to sell at a desired time and price.

For full details of the Sub-Fund's risks, please refer to the Prospectus available as mentioned in section "Risk Considerations".
