Risk and reward profile

The risk indicator is based upon historical data and may not be a reliable indication for the future risk profile of the Sub-Fund. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The lowest category does not mean a "risk free" investment. The Sub-Fund's risk level of 3 results from the following factors:

- The Sub-Fund is based on an investment philosophy focusing primarily on liquidity and capital preservation.
- The Sub-Fund invests across the full spectrum of global fixed income with an opportunistic approach, utilising a focus on high quality instruments which are traditionally very liquid.
- The Sub-Fund may have exposure to high yield credit securities where there is perceived relative value, including senior bank loans that qualify as money market instruments, that typically carry a higher risk than investment grade securities.

- The Sub-Fund may also have exposure to emerging market debt securities where there is perceived relative value, that typically carry a higher risk than debt securities issued in developed markets.

The value of an investment in the Sub-Fund can go up and down. When you sell your shares, they may be worth less than you paid for them. If your currency as an investor is different from the reference currency of the Sub-Fund, changes in currency exchange rates could reduce any investment gains or increase any investment losses.

The rating does not reflect the possible effects of unusual market conditions or large unpredictable events, which could amplify everyday risks and could trigger other risks. The Sub-Fund is subject to the following risks which may not be adequately captured by the indicator:

- Securities that combine the elements of debt and equity and the risks associated with both, including greater volatility than for straight bond investments with an increased risk of capital loss.
- Certain derivatives could increase the Sub-Fund's volatility or expose the Sub-Fund to losses greater than the cost of the derivatives.
- The value of the Sub-Fund's investments may be sensitive to changes in market perceptions of credit quality, both of individual issuers and of the credit markets in general.

For full details of the Sub-Fund's risks, please refer to the Prospectus available as mentioned in section "Risk Considerations".
